Manager Commentary

The MSCI Emerging Markets Index returned +0.6% in US dollar terms in March. Returns from Latin America (+4.8%) and EMEA (+2.7%) were positive whereas those from Asia (-0.1%) were slightly negative. The three strongest sectors were materials (+8.9%), utilities (+7.0%) and energy (+5.9%). The three weakest sectors were IT (-8.6%), real estate (-0.1%) and healthcare (+1.1%).

The Fund's holding in HDFC Bank, India's largest private sector bank, was the largest contributor to monthly performance when its shares recovered after declining earlier in the year. Similarly, the holding in Chinese OTA Trip.com contributed positively when its shares rallied following a weaker month in February. Yum China, the operator of KFC and Pizza Hut restaurants in China, saw sustained share price momentum in March following on from its fourth quarter results during February, when it reported sequential improvement in same store sales performance.

MercadoLibre, Latin America's largest e-commerce operator, was the largest detractor from performance, with its shares declining following a strong period in January and February. TSMC, the world's largest semiconductor manufacturer, declined on broader concerns about a weaker global economic environment. IT consultant Globant declined sharply for the second consecutive month following the weaker-than-expected revenue guidance that it issued in February.

Returns are expressed in U.S. dollars and attribution commentary refers to the USD share class.

Definitions

Active Share – The difference between a portfolio's holdings and its benchmark index, calculated by summing the difference between each stock's weight in the portfolio and its benchmark weight, and dividing by two.

Tracking Error – Tracking error indicates how closely a fund follows its benchmark index. It is a measure of the risk in the fund that is due to active management decisions made by the fund manager. It is calculated on an ex-post basis (actual basis, post period end).

Standard Deviation – A measure of the average deviations of a return series from its mean; often used as a risk measure. A large standard deviation implies that there have been large swings or volatility in the manager's return series.

Information Ratio (IR) – It is a measure of risk-adjusted performance of a portfolio against a benchmark. It calculates the excess returns of a portfolio relative to the benchmark, adjusted for the volatility of those returns. A higher IR indicates more consistent excess returns.

Sharpe Ratio – This measures a portfolio's risk-adjusted performance. A high Sharpe ratio indicates a better risk-adjusted return. The ratio is designed to measure how far a portfolio's return can be attributed to fund manager skill as opposed to excessive risk taking.

Upside Market Capture Ratio – The up-market capture ratio is the statistical measure of an investment manager's overall performance in up-markets. It is used to evaluate how well an investment manager performed relative to an index during periods when that index has risen.

Downside Market Capture Ratio – The downside-market capture ratio is a statistical measure of an investment manager's overall performance in down-markets. It is used to evaluate how well an investment manager performed relative to an index during periods when that index has dropped.
